

KONICA MINOLTA
PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

Project Management

Project Deployment

Project management underpins all Konica Minolta Professional Services services. It ensures that products and solutions are delivered on time, within budget and to the highest possible standards. Dedicated project managers serve as a single point of contact, making life easier and providing dependable, expert support from initial planning through to implementation. Konica Minolta Professional Services project managers are continually updating their skills and knowledge and this, combined with their wealth of on-the-job experience, means they are 100% committed to total quality management throughout all business activities. Konica Minolta Professional Services provides a complete end-to-end management solution for projects of all sizes from consultancy and subsequent delivery and installation of the appropriate products and services, through to development services and the training of users and administrators.

Program Management

The supply of highly qualified technical staff and product specialists is only one of the many services that Konica Minolta Professional Services offers its customers. Implementing and managing major projects has become a significant part of its activities. Clients find themselves entering a new and untested environment when embarking on the purchase and integration of multi-functional devices into new or existing systems. Konica Minolta Professional Services has all the skills necessary to project manage the installation, de-commissioning of old devices or commissioning of new devices. This includes coordinating the integration of new devices into existing networks. As a result Konica Minolta Professional Services is ideally placed to manage an installation and integration project to ensure client operations remain intact during this highly critical process. Managing an installation project across large single and/or multi-sites is a complex process. The experience gained by Konica Minolta Professional Services staff in this area has resulted in fast and effective roll-outs with minimum disruption and fast up-times for clients.

